EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

IMPORTANCE OF A GURU: People often feel empathy for a child without parents, and in a similar way, even celestial beings show compassion towards those who lack spiritual guidance. Such individuals may sometimes feel as though they are lacking guidance in their lives. Gurus often have a natural devotion towards God, which flows in their hearts like the river Ganga. The term "guru" refers to someone who is trusted for their wisdom and guidance. Gurus do their best to help us, trying to overcome barriers when possible. They are seen as messengers of God and are often held in high esteem.

Sri Ramanujamji explained in a discourse that a guru can help a person follow the four main goals of life: Dharma (moral principles), Artha (wealth), Kama (desires), and Moksha (liberation). When it is said that a guru gently guides us by sharing dharmas, it means a guru teaches us how to live rightly.

The phrase "Porul illarkku ivvulagam illai" means that life without wealth is difficult, so a guru reminds us to seek it ethically. When talking about Kama, the guru helps us understand which desires are truly meaningful. The phrase "dwelling place of God is called Veedu" refers to the ultimate spiritual liberation, and with the blessings of a true teacher, one is guided towards this spiritual goal, called "moksha."

Dwar refers to an entry point. Haridwar is known as an entry to the holy shrine of Badrinath. Just as a mother cares for her child with pure affection, gurus share their blessings without expecting anything in return. Gurus strive to help us achieve our highest objectives and life's purposes. —In The Hindu

Turtle returns to ocean after flipper amputation

Florida: An adolescent loggerhead sea turtle named Dilly Dally crawled into the Atlantic Ocean, months after having a front flipper amputated at a Florida turtle hospital.

The turtle was brought to Loggerhead Marinelife Centre in January suffering from predator wounds to the front flipper. The veterinary crew at the Juno Beach facility assisted in Dilly Dally's rehabilitation and care.

"Every time we release a turtle back into the wild is special and not just for us but for all the interns and volunteers and everyone that puts an effort to getting these turtles back out there. It's always a really special day," said Marika Weber, a veterinary technician at the centre.

A crowd cheered as the turtle made its way to the ocean. A satellite tracking device attached to Dilly Dally's shell will allow the centre and the public to follow her journey.

Customs net tarantulas in cookie shipment

Bonn: German customs officers have discovered a massive haul of about 1,500 tarantulas hidden inside a shipment disguised as cookies, authorities said Monday.

The seven-kilogramme (15-pound) shipment from Vietnam was intercepted at Cologne-Bonn airport and emitted a strange smell when opened, customs officials said.

Inside the found the venomous arachnids packed into plastic tubes and said that many had not survived the flight, with the remaining spiders placed into professional care.

"This unusual discovery left even the most experienced officers speechless. It was deeply troubling what some people do to animals purely for profit," customs spokesman Jens Ahland said.

A criminal investigation has been launched for failing to pay duties and make declarations.

REALLY...?

- Frog tongues are incredibly specialised for catching prey. They are sticky, soft, and deploy with remarkable speed. The stickiness is a result of a unique combination of a soft tongue and a special saliva that becomes more viscous upon impact with prey, then thins out for easy swallowing. This allows them to capture insects and even small animals with incredible force and speed.
- Ants do not have tongues in the same way humans do. Instead, they possess the glossae, which serve a similar purpose in the context of their anatomy. These small, flexible structures help ants taste and manipulate food, functioning as a part of their complex mouth parts. Ants are excellent soil engineers. Their burrowing activities aerate the soil, creating channels that allow air and water to penetrate deeper layers. This process improves soil structure and fertility, benefiting plant roots and promoting healthy plant growth.

Tax payment ordeal at Bogadi Panchayat

Sir,

The areas located on the other side of the Ring Road, towards Bogadi and beyond, fall under the jurisdiction of the Bogadi Town Panchayat. The process of paying house taxes at the Bogadi Town Panchayat Office has, unfortunately, become a highly stressful experience for residents. The office is understaffed, lacks proper infrastructure, and faces frequent server failures.

This makes it extremely difficult — especially for women and senior citizens — to get their work done promptly.

In an era where digitisation is widespread, why can't the Panchayat introduce online payment facilities for tax collection?

One wonders whether this Town Panchayat is overburdened with work or simply unable to cope with existing workload. I urge authorities concerned to improve the infrastructure, shift the tax payment counters to the ground floor, deploy additional staff for quicker service, provide adequate seating arrangements to ease waiting, and ensure uninterrupted server and internet connectivity at all times.

Unruly parking at chat, snack stalls chokes roads

Mysuru, Aug. 5 (VVH&BCT)- Several intersections and roadside stretches across Mysuru, including T.K. Layout Circle, are increasingly overrun by small vehicles, auto rickshaws and pushcarts selling vegetables and street food.

These informal setups routinely obstruct vehicular movement, triggering traffic congestion and posing safety hazards. Citizens are urging the authorities to relocate these vendors to designated vending zones.

Major arteries like Sayyaji Rao Road and Chamaraja Double Road are grappling with similar problems. Customers often park haphazardly to buy fast food or chats, particularly near curves and intersections where two-wheelers line up in disorder, further narrowing the road.

The situation is particularly chaotic at Bisilu Maramma Circle in T.K. Layout, near Chaduranga Road and Sahukar Channaiah Road. Here, pushcart vendors dominate footpaths, forcing pedestrians onto the main road and adding to traffic snarls.

The area remains perpetually crowded, with different vendors occupying every stretch — vegetables on one side, fruits on another, snacks and fast food along the rest — creating a continuous bottleneck.

Adjacent auto stands worsen the congestion, raising accident risks and causing daily inconvenience to commuters.

Residents are demanding that Mysuru City Corporation (MCC) act swiftly, provide safer alternatives for roadside vendors and implement strict enforcement to restore smooth movement and pedestrian safety.

UoM pioneers doctoral research on repatriating tribal heritage

Mysuru, Aug. 5 (BCT)- The University of Mysore's (UoM) Department of Studies in Anthropology has achieved a national first by introducing the repatriation of tribal heritage as a doctoral research focus — a milestone in Indian academia and cultural policy.

The path-breaking study, conducted by Dr. Banita Behera under the guidance of Prof. M.R. Gangadhar, Professor of Anthropology and current Vice-Chancellor of Chamarajanagar University, examines the sensitive issue of returning tribal cultural artefacts from museums to their source communities.

Titled 'Repatriation of Tribal Heritage - A Threat to Anthropological Collections: A Future Solution to the Cultural Policies,' the research addresses cultural, legal, ethical and policy challenges surrounding repatriation, a subject previously unexplored in depth in the Indian context.

"This is not just a thesis but a cultural manifesto for the future," said Prof. Gangadhar. "It calls for reforming antiquity laws and reimagining the role of museums as both protectors and collaborators in cultural preservation."

Bridging legal and cultural gaps

The study critiques existing frameworks such as the Antiquities and Art Treasures Act, 1972, which, it argues, inadequately address tribal rights and community ownership of artefacts in Indian museums.

It proposes inclusive cultural policies, museum-community partnerships and legal mechanisms to enable respectful and collaborative repatriation.

Globally, repatriation has become a pressing debate, with countries returning artefacts taken during colonial eras. In India, however, conversation has remained muted, despite the country's extensive tribal heritage and rich museum collections.

Dr. Behera's work places India on the map of this discourse, suggesting reforms that could influence national cultural policy, museum ethics and heritage protection strategies.

Co-custodians in heritage

The research recommends amending legal loopholes, recognising tribal communities as co-custodians in heritage decisions and introducing participatory museum models to involve communities in curatorial processes. This milestone positions University of Mysore at the forefront of heritage policy innovation and anthropological research in South Asia, enhancing its legacy as one of India's most culturally attuned institutions.

Ashokapuram Township to be formed in 20 acres: District Minister

Mysuru, Aug. 5 (DM)- Stating that Ashokapuram Township will be formed in a 20-acre area, District Minister Dr. H.C. Mahadevappa said that measures will be taken in this regard if land is available within the city limits or in the outskirts. He was speaking at the inauguration of the new Association of Vishwamanva Dr. B.R. Ambedkar Samudaya Bhavan located on Ustad Chikkaidayyana street and Dr. B.R. Ambedkar Jayanti celebrations in Ashokapuram on Sunday.

Maintaining that he will make honest efforts for construction of houses and providing other basic amenities at Ashokapuram locality, Dr. Mahadevappa asserted that he would strive for comprehensive development as long as he holds power.

"Ashokapuram is a matter of pride. The locality, apart from being a cover for surrounding villages, also acts as a protective shield of the Constitution. The country cannot survive without the Constitution and those trying to defame it will be wiped out", he noted.

Observing that political power is like having the key to the doors of problems and challenges, Dr. Mahadevappa said that the key, however, should be in the hands of right people. If not, then there would be no concerns for the exploited and weaker sections. Wrong people in power would not provide any benefits for the downtrodden and also will be disrespectful to Dr. Ambedkar and the Constitution, he argued.

Minister Dr. Mahadevappa's KRS Dam remarks

Calculated plan to rename KRS Dam after Tipu, says BJP

R. Ashoka

Dr. Mahadevappa

B.Y. Vijayendra

Bengaluru, Aug. 5 (UNI & Agencies)- The Karnataka BJP has accused the Congress-led State Government of conspiring to rename the Krishna Raja Sagar (KRS) Dam after Tipu Sultan, following a fresh controversy sparked by Social Welfare Minister Dr. H.C. Mahadevappa's claim that Tipu had laid the dam's foundation stone.

Dr. Mahadevappa, a close associate of Chief Minister Siddaramaiah, remarked on Aug. 2, asserting that "no one dared to say this earlier." His statement has drawn sharp reactions from BJP leaders, who termed it historically inaccurate and politically motivated.

Leader of Opposition R. Ashoka said in Mandya, "Whenever one mentions 'Kannambadi Katte,' the name that comes to mind is Nalwadi Krishnaraja Wadiyar. That's why the Dam was named 'Krishna Raja Sagara' in his honour. But observing the Congress Government's moves, it appears there is a calculated plan to rename the reservoir after Tipu Sultan."

Absurd claims

Ashoka said, the Dam's construction began in 1911 — 112 years after Tipu died in 1799 — and was completed only because Nalwadi pledged royal jewellery to fund it. "Minister Mahadevappa, what connection could there possibly be between a project launched a century after Tipu's death and the fanatic himself? Your claim is absurd," he said.

Recalling the royal family's sacrifice, Ashoka detailed how Nalwadi Krishnaraja Wadiyar and the Queen Mother took sacks of jewels to Mumbai, sold them and funded the Dam's construction when British funding fell short. He accused Congress leaders of a pattern of insults, citing Siddaramaiah's son Dr. Yathindra's recent remark comparing his father to Nalwadi. "Dragging the Mysore royal family into petty politics will backfire. The people of this land will not tolerate this, and the BJP will not remain silent. Let this be a warning," Ashoka said.

Insult to Mysuru's history

BJP State President and MLA B.Y. Vijayendra echoed the criticism, calling Mahadevappa's statement an insult to Mysuru's history. "The Kannambadi Dam was the product of Nalwadi Krishnaraja Wadiyar's vision and Sir M. Visvesvaraya's engineering genius. Every step — from the 1908 plan to the 1932 completion — is well-documented," he said, recounting how Vani Vilasa Sannidhana and Krishnavilasa Sannidhana sacrificed royal jewels to ensure its completion.

Vijayendra added, "Mahatma Gandhi himself called Nalwadi a 'Rajarshi' for such monumental public service. If there is evidence that Tipu Sultan contributed to this project, release it. We are prepared to share every documented record of its construction. Don't distort history to glorify Tipu Sultan for political gains."

He accused Congress of using Tipu's legacy to consolidate vote banks and warned against insulting the Mysore royal family's contributions.

Members of the Kannadaambe Rakshana Vedike yesterday staged a protest at Gandhi Square condemning District Minister Dr. H.C. Mahadevapppa's statement that Tipu Sultan laid the foundation for the KRS Dam. The Vedike members, led by its President B.B. Rajshekhar, accused the Minister of distorting history in an attempt to glorify Tipu Sultan.

'Go ahead, say Tipu started Dasara too'

Former MP Prathap Simha slams Dr. Mahadevapppa, questions why such hatred towards Nalwadi

Mysuru, Aug. 5 (BCT)- Former MP Prathap Simha has hit back at District Minister Dr. H.C. Mahadevappa, remarking, "Go ahead and claim that even Dasara was started by Tipu Sultan — people of Mysuru will be truly enlightened!"

Prathap Simha

Responding to Dr. Mahadevapppa's recent statement that Tipu Sultan laid the foundation stone for the KRS Dam, Simha highlighted a recurring trend. "Last week, Dr. Yathindra Siddaramaiah claimed his father, Chief Minister Siddaramaiah, was greater than Nalwadi Krishnaraja Wadiyar. This week, Dr. Mahadevapppa says Tipu laid the foundation for the Kannambadi Katte, which Nalwadi built by pledging his family's jewellery."

Taking a sarcastic swipe, Simha said, "While the junior doctor seems intent on rewriting history, the senior doctor appears determined to distort it."

"Why the hatred toward Nalwadi?" Simha questioned. He criticised the remarks, calling them historically inaccurate and politically motivated.

"Tipu Sultan died in 1799. Sir M. Visvesvaraya wasn't even born during Tipu's time. Without a people-centric king like Nalwadi Krishnaraja Wadiyar and a world-renowned engineer like Visvesvaraya, the Kannambadi Katte (KRS Dam) would never have been possible," Simha asserted.

Nalwadi's progressive contributions

He pointed out that the dam's construction began in 1911 — over a century after Tipu's death — and asked, "What exactly were others doing during that hundred-year gap?"

Simha went on to defend Nalwadi's progressive contributions: "Long before Dr. B.R. Ambedkar drafted the Constitution, Nalwadi had already introduced reservations for the Dalit community, setting a national example. Why such resentment toward a visionary like him?"

He accused certain leaders of twisting history out of political spite. "Why this animosity toward such a great figure? Siddaramaiah keeps saying he'll bring in laws against spreading false information — then please do so quickly."

Simha demanded immediate legal action against those he accused of spreading misinformation. "File the first case against Dr. Mahadevapppa, Dr. Yathindra, Santosh Lad and Priyank Kharge. Only then will these attempts to rewrite history and mislead the public come to an end."

"When your son and Cabinet Ministers make statements undermining the Maharajas and their legacy, it's clear that this hatred runs deep. You're turning it into a political tool. But the people of Mysuru will not tolerate this," the former MP added.

'Drop charges against Christian nuns'

Rev. Bernard Moras from Mysuru writes to PM

Mysuru, Aug. 5- Rev. Bernard Moras, the Apostolic Administrator, Diocese of Mysore, has written to Prime Minister Narendra Modi, to take steps for the welfare of minority Christian community and withdraw the baseless charges of human trafficking and religious conversion, made against Christian nuns Sisters Vandana Francis and Preethi Mary and others at Chhattisgarh recently.

Rev. Bernard Moras

In a memorandum addressed to the PM, submitted at the Deputy Commissioner's office, Rev. Moras has stated that, the arrest of two Kerala-based Catholic nuns (Sister Preethi Mary and Sister Vandana Francis) from the Congregation of Assisi Sisters of Mary Immaculate, who were serving selflessly in Mercy Hospital at Agra on July 25 at Durg Railway Station in Chhattisgarh, represents a clear violation of justice, Constitutional safeguards and minority rights. Despite carrying a written parental consent and accompanying adult women to employment opportunities, the Sisters were subjected to charges of trafficking and forced religious conversion accusations now widely condemned as fabricated and politically motivated.

Nine Dasara elephants housed at Aranya Bhavan

Prashantha, Mahendra and Dhananjaya to undergo training as backup Howdah carriers

Mysuru, Aug. 5 (PM,MTY& KS)- The first batch of nine Dasara elephants, led by the iconic Golden Howdah carrier and commander Captain Abhimanyu, reached Aranya Bhavan in Ashokapuram last evening.

Their arrival followed the traditional launch of the Gajapayana — the ceremonial journey from Veeranahosahalli Gate in Nagarahole Tiger Reserve — which began yesterday afternoon.

The nine elephants — Abhimanyu, Bhima, Kanjan, Dhananjaya, Prashantha, Mahendra, Ekalavya, Kaveri and Lakshmi — were transported in trucks, escorted by Police and Forest Department personnel.

Enthusiastic crowds lined the route, cheering and capturing the grand procession on their mobile phones as the trucks passed through Hunsur Road and Krishnaraja Boulevard.

At Aranya Bhavan, the elephants, accompanied by their mahouts and kavadis, were welcomed by a large gathering, including excited children eager to glimpse their favourite Dasara jumbos.

Once unloaded, the elephants were led to their designated resting areas to relax after the journey. Deputy Conservator of Forests (Wildlife) Dr. I.B. Prabhugowda and other Forest officials were present to receive them.

Second batch to arrive next month

This year, 14 elephants will take part in the Dasara festivities. With the first nine already in the city, the second batch — including three debutants — will arrive next month.

The upcoming arrivals include Gopi (42) and Sugreeva (43) from Dubare Elephant Camp; debutants Hemavathi (11) from Dubare; Srikanta (56) from Mathigodu and Roopa (44) from Bheemanakatte Elephant Camp.

Among them, Hemavathi will be the youngest elephant while 59-year-old Captain Abhimanyu remains the senior most.

Training for Golden Howdah duty

Captain Abhimanyu will once again carry the Golden Howdah during the grand Jumboo Savari procession this year. In addition, elephants Prashantha, Mahendra and Dhananjaya will undergo training as backup carriers.

"There is no doubt about Abhimanyu leading the procession, but every year, three to four elephants are readied as alternatives," DCF Prabhugowda told reporters at Aranya Bhavan.

He added that all participating elephants are healthy, have undergone routine medical check-ups and will be placed on a special Dasara diet. Later, their weights will also be recorded.

Elephants to enter Mysore Palace on Aug. 10

Jumbo insurance !

14 Dasara elephants, 43 staff insured for Rs. 2.04 crore; valid from Aug. 4 to Oct. 5

Mysuru, Aug. 5 (MTY&KS)- As in previous years, the Forest Department has insured all 14 Dasara elephants, their mahouts, kavadis, supporting staff and public properties for a total sum of Rs. 2.04 crore. The policy is effective from Aug. 4 to Oct. 5.

This year's jumbo squad comprises 10 male and four female elephants. Each male elephant is insured for Rs. 5 lakh, and each female for Rs. 4.5 lakh, totalling Rs. 68 lakh.

A total of 43 personnel — including 14 mahouts, 14 kavadis, the DCF, two RFOs, one veterinarian, one assistant, and 10 special mahouts/assistants — are insured for Rs. 2 lakh each, amounting to Rs. 86 lakh.

In addition, Rs. 50 lakh has been insured towards compensation for any damage to public property. The total premium of Rs. 67,000 has been paid to The New India Assurance Co. Ltd., which secured the contract through a Forest Department tender.

Training for Dasara elephants will begin next week. The Dasara festivities open on Sept. 22, culminating with the Jumboo Savari on Oct. 2.

Indefinite KSRTC strike begins

City services hit; rural areas disconnected

Private bus operators make a killing; charge hefty fares on Mysuru-Bengaluru route

Mysuru, Aug. 5 (BLU&BS)- Defying the High Court order to maintain restraint, Karnataka State Road Transport Corporation (KSRTC) workers launched an indefinite strike across the State this morning, largely affecting the regular bus commuters, office-goers, students and mainly the women, who were widely travelling for free under the 'Shakti' scheme of the Government.

The KSRTC Staff and Workers Federation, along with the Joint Action Committee of various road transport unions, called for a strike, demanding wage revision as per the 2023 agreement, payment of pending wages and withdrawal of cases registered against the operating staff, among other demands.

Rural services paralysed

In Mysuru district alone, KSRTC buses are regularly operated on 750 routes from the KSRTC Sub-urban Bus Station on Mother Teresa Road, apart from 120 city routes covered from City Bus Stand (CBS) near KR Circle.

Following the strike, KSRTC authorities operated buses on a few of these routes by deputing the outsourced staff and trainees as an alternative arrangement.

However, barring the main stops on the rural routes, the interior routes largely remained disconnected, with the new drivers and conductors not aware of the stage-wise stoppages and the ticket fare that differs, albeit by a few rupees.

Private bus operators made the killing, as the State Government had permitted them to operate, as an alternative measure, to ensure regular bus travellers remain unaffected.

For the first time in recent years, private buses were seen parked inside both the KSRTC Sub-Urban Bus Station and City Bus Station. However, those opting to travel in these buses had to shell out more for the ticket, unlike KSRTC buses, which were affordable to all.

Demand for Bengaluru route

Like always, the Mysuru-Bengaluru route was much in demand, with the private buses charging Rs. 250 to Rs. 300 per ticket, while the KSRTC charges Rs. 220 per individual on the same route.

The 'Power Plus' category of buses operated by KSRTC itself charges Rs. 400 per ticket, and six to seven of the buses were seen waiting for passengers.

In Mysuru district, 400 private buses operate on various routes, but today most of the buses are diverted to KSRTC regular routes, said Pruthvi, President of Mysuru District Tourist and Private Bus Owners Association.

Mini passenger vehicles operating on short-distance routes also made the most of the situation by ferrying passengers from various destinations. Some of the cabs, which regularly ferry passengers to Bengaluru, were seen charging Rs. 250 to Rs. 300 per head on the Mysuru-Bengaluru route.

Bus stands deserted

As the people had got a hint of the KSRTC strike, with the news reports appearing in both print and visual media for a week's time, not many bus commuters were seen in the bus stands.

The passenger density was below normal, following which other transport operators like autorickshaws and intra-city cabs went without business. Similar was the pathetic situation of roadside vendors and elderly persons from nearby localities, who were eking out a living by seeking alms.

Commercial establishments, especially the hotels and restaurants, lodges, eateries and tea stalls, which were largely dependent on inter-district travellers, were the most affected due to the strike.

While some of the private buses were operated to popular religious tourism sites like Nanjangud and MM Hills, the density of passengers was underwhelming.

Police have made elaborate security arrangements, mainly at the bus stands. As a precautionary measure, the Mobile Command Centre of the City Police has been deputed to keep a vigil at the exit point of KSRTC buses at Sub-Urban Bus Station, facing the heritage arch. Fortunately, no untoward incidents were reported till we went to the press.

FlyBus service partly hit

KSRTC FlyBus, which directly operates between Mysuru and Kempegowda International Airport at Devanahalli in Bengaluru, is partly out of service.

While some of the FlyBuses were operated early in the morning, the early noon bus operation was withheld.

The KSRTC authorities were reluctant to hand over the steering of these buses to inexperienced trainees and outsourced drivers, which is said to be the reason behind suspending the service due to the strike.

'Is alternative arrangement on big scale possible'

Mysuru, Aug. 5 (BS)- Shivakumar, State Organising Secretary of KSRTC Staff and Workers Federation, has asked, whether it is possible to depute the outsourced and trainee staff to 24,000-fleet of Karnataka State Road Transport Corporation (KSRTC) buses, as an alternative arrangement on account of KSRTC strike.

On the eve of KSTRC strike yesterday, Shivakumar said, free electricity connection is provided under Gruha Jyoti Yojane to the houses worth crores of rupees. The women Government employees, who draw salary in lakhs, are also provided free travel facility under Shakti scheme. But, the KSRTC employees, despite being paid less, are being ignored by Chief Minister Siddaramaiah, who has been reluctant to clear the arrears.

"When we go on inter-villages and inter-State routes, we sleep in the bus, but lose sleep over mosquito bite. We have to suffer due to inadequate toilet facility in the morning. But, we are met with a cold response, when we ask for salary arrears," rued Shivakumar.

The persistent demand is to clear the arrears for being paid less, not for matching salary as per Seventh Pay Commission.

Multi-crore drug seizure in city: One more Cop suspended

Mysuru, Aug. 5 (BS)- Heads continue to roll in connection with the recent multi-crore drug manufacturing unit that was busted by Maharashtra Police at Belavatta in Outer Ring Road (ORR) junction at Narasimharaja (NR) Police Station limits in city.

City Police Commissioner Seema Latkar has issued an order suspending Pradeep, the Member of ACP Squad, Devaraja Sub-Division.

It is said that, Pradeep had concealed some of the key information, without bringing them to the notice of the higher ups. Following the unearthing of drug manufacturing unit, the City Police Commissioner had ordered for the suspension of NR Police Inspector Lakshmikanth K. Talawar, only to be revoked a day later.

The patrolling staff of Bannimantap beat-Police Constable Anil and Special Branch (SB) Head Constable Anjaneya were suspended later.

CRICKET TALK

By V.N. Prasad

India stage greatest comeback at The Oval

Clinch narrowest win in Test match by just six runs

Team India celebrates victory in the final Test at The Oval yesterday.

It was a sheer 'Heart Stopping' six runs victory for the Indians in the final Test at The Oval, to level the series at 2-2; in an unforgettable fashion.

Heartiest congratulations to the young and energetic Indian team on their impressive victory at The Oval. In one of the narrowest margins in Test cricket, India ran through the English tail on the 5th morning winning the Test by six runs. Skipper Gill won everyone's 'Dil' at The Oval and back in India for his astute captaincy and calm demeanour. Deservedly so, he received an award for his 754 aggregate; that included three tons and a double; all brilliant knocks.

Mohammed Siraj is known to give 'Hundred Percent' from the word Go, be it fielding and/ or bowling (excuse that dropped catch of Harry Brook). His presence on the field is always electrifying. His nine wickets haul in the Test was a defining performance. Especially the five in the second inning was the match winner; ably supported by Prasidh Krishna who grabbed four. Siraj was adjudged the 'Man of the Match' for his brilliant bowling that shook not only the tail but also the top order.

Swing of the pendulum on the fourth day was nerve shattering. It was sledge hammer knock of Washington Sundar (53 with four towering sixes) that set the steep 373 runs chase for the English. In fact, I expected the expert commentators to acknowledge Washington's feat in eloquent words. It was not to be. The English have chased big totals and were confident of an encore. Our seamers Akash Deep, Md. Siraj and Prasidh Krishna started off impressively as England were reduced to 106 for 3. Then came the partnership of Joe Root and Harry Brook.

Here I have to mention of the unpredictable English weather. Story/ situation turned on its head as the Sun came out. The track turned absolutely dead. Assistance from the air/ atmosphere was a big zero. Usage of 'Heavy Roller' added to our woes. None of our three seamers nor the spinners could extract anything at all from the pitch, as Brook exhibited some brutal batting display en route to his century. At the other end, it was Root who batted with sheer elegance, en route to his 39th hundred. His cover drives, straight drives, flick off the toes were all a treat to watch; as he and Brook shared a vital 195 partnership. India sunk in dejection. It was 'Quick Sand' situation. All hopes were lost. Sheer providence. Clouds gathered, a few brief showers and the pitch started talking again as the defiant Brook lost his head and lost his wicket.

Md. Siraj and Prasidh Krishna woke up instantly and extracted juice from the pitch. Jacob Bethell threw away his wicket, as Root completed his brilliant ton. Md. Siraj was unplayable in a spell that had even a well-set Root on the back foot. It all looked metamorphic. With a beauty of an inswing, he had Root caught behind at 337. Keeper Jamie Smith was all at sea as bad light stopped the play.

Day 5 was lethal. Both Md. Siraj and Prasidh Krishna bowled their hearts out. A mere 37 looked like a mountain to achieve/ reach. Both exploited the conditions as Jamie Smith and the tail sunk; albeit a few hits here and there. Eventually, the Yorker that ripped Gus Atkinson's off stump sent the English camp into graveyard silence. India camp was ecstatic to square up the series. Series of on-field and studio thoughts were all redeeming.

On the hindsight, there are a few aspects that we need to evaluate. Sai Sudharsan is no doubt a good T20 player. But too immature in Test Cricket. Karun Nair looked totally jaded and needs to confine to domestic circuits. Someone needs to talk seriously to Yashasvi Jaiswal. He needs to concentrate more and dig in. His hundred had three chances. Akash Deep should watch Ben Stokes' performances on videos and learn a lot as to the variety a pacer needs to induce mistakes in batsmen. Ok, we are happy now. If we had lost this Test, I am sorry to say that Gautam Gambhir would have come under heavy criticism for team selections.

All's well that ends well. If only we had won the Lord's Test, we would have been over the moon.

WORD OF THE DAY

Tapestry

Pronunciation: TAP-uh-stree (Noun)

Meaning: A tapestry is a heavy textile characterized by complicated pictorial designs and used for hangings, curtains and upholstery. In figurative use, tapestry may refer to anything made up of different things, people, colors, etc.

Origin: Several languages weave through the history of tapestry, which comes from a Greek word meaning "carpet" and traveled through Anglo-French and Middle English before arriving in modern English in the 15th century. Tapestry originally referred to a heavy handwoven reversible textile used for hangings, curtains and upholstery, and characterized by complicated pictorial designs. It still does today, but the word has fittingly developed a "tapestry" of additional senses. It may describe a nonreversible imitation of tapestry used chiefly for upholstery, or embroidery on canvas resembling woven tapestry. It can also refer figuratively to anything made up of different parts, as in "nature's rich tapestry." Tapestry isn't the only art word that's developed a figurative "medley" sense; collage ("a work of art made by adhering pieces of different materials (such as paper, cloth, or wood) to a flat surface") and mosaic ("a decoration made by inlaying small pieces of variously colored material (such as glass or ceramic) to form pictures or patterns") are both used figuratively to mean "a collection of different things."

Example: "The event showcased the vibrant tapestry of the numerous cultural backgrounds of the students through dance, performance, music, language and artistic expression." — Foysol Choudhury, The Edinburgh (Scotland) Evening News, 10 May 2025.

THE ODD WORD

Syzygy

When three celestial bodies are almost aligned in a straight line.

PHRASE OF THE DAY

The Cream Of The Crop

Meaning: "The cream of the crop" is a phrase inspired from the French phrase 'la crème de la crème,' which loosely translates to "the cream of the cream." This phrase is used when someone tries to convey highest value or quality of a person or object.

Origin: The phrase "best of the best" was heard in England around the year 1800. But it is not clear exactly how the expression "the cream of the crop" first came into use.

Example: "These two employees are extremely hardworking. They are the cream of the crop among our employees."
